ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

Some internships give you a desk. This one gives you a region.

As an AACST Academic Ambassador, you will represent a national, ISO-certified, and AICTE-approved academic association across colleges, universities, schools, and IT organisations in your city. You will carry AACST's mission to campuses that have not yet heard it — building the relationships, partnerships and research conversations that turn an association into a movement.

Working closely with the AACST core team, you will promote our academic initiatives, membership community, research activities, and skill development programmes, as well as the International Journal of Advances and Applications in Convergent Studies & Transdisciplinary (IJ-AACST).

This is real responsibility, real institutional access, and a professional network you keep long after the internship ends.

WHAT YOU WILL DO

- Represent AACST at colleges, universities, schools and IT organisations across your assigned region
- Introduce the association, its vision and its academic initiatives to faculty members and institutional leadership
- Grow the AACST membership community among faculty, researchers, professionals and students
- Create awareness about IJ-AACST and encourage quality research paper submissions
- Promote AACST workshops, conferences, FDPs, internships and skill development programmes
- Build institutional contacts and identify opportunities for academic collaboration and MoUs
- Maintain records of institutions visited and outreach activities conducted
- Submit weekly progress reports and gather field feedback that shapes AACST's future programmes
