ABOUT

The AACST Newsletter is the monthly publication of the Association of All Computer Science Teachers (AACST), an ISO 9001:2015 certified, MSME-registered association based in Nagpur. It is edited by an academic editorial board and gives teachers, researchers and students a regular place to share knowledge on computer science and its uses in other fields. Each issue carries short scholarly articles, notes on new tools and technologies, teaching practice, and news about the association's workshops, conferences and members.

AIMS AND SCOPE

- Share short, readable articles on emerging areas such as artificial intelligence, data science, blockchain, quantum computing, digital twins and cyber security.
- Encourage new ideas in teaching and the use of technology in the classroom.
- Connect computer science with physics, chemistry, life sciences, mathematics, humanities, management, agriculture and law.
- Report AACST's workshops, faculty development programmes, webinars, conferences, competitions and outreach such as the Cyber Shield Drive.
- Recognise the achievements of members and give early-career teachers and researchers a place to publish.
